We are committed to providing you with excellent, comprehensive and integrated care – centered on you and your family.

Your UC Davis primary care team is structured as a patient-centered medical home. This model of care is designed to help you live a healthier life by supporting your personal needs – allowing your doctor to spend more time listening to you and getting to the heart of your health goals and challenges.

We take this responsibility very seriously and have engaged a team of health-care partners to assist in coordinating your appointments, diagnostic tests, and many other aspects of your care. This health “family” helps provide for your needs by:

- Creating partnerships between you and your care team
- Offering care appropriate to your culture and language
- Promoting wellness and prevention, helping you make decisions and manage your own health
- Considering mental and behavioral health as well as physical health
- Taking full advantage of the latest technology and our electronic medical record to connect you and your care team
- Offering advice nursing and after-hours appointments by calling your primary care physician’s clinic number
- Ensuring access to educational resources
- Coordinating with specialty and community services

Our request of you

As part of our health-care partnership with you, we request that you keep your care team regularly updated about:

- your medical history
- when you see health-care providers outside UC Davis
- when you obtain health care on your own (such as a flu shot or eye exam)

Recognition as Patient-Centered Medical Homes has been awarded by NCQA to UC Davis Medical Group adult and pediatric primary care practices in Auburn, Carmichael, Elk Grove, Davis, Folsom, Natomas, Rancho Cordova, Rocklin, Roseville and Sacramento.

UC Davis Medical Group’s 18 primary care locations are recognized as Patient-Centered Medical Homes by the National Committee for Quality Assurance (NCQA).
