Applications are now being accepted for the 2018 Management Skills Assessment Program (MSAP). The program is designed to assess the management skills of high potential, early career supervisors, managers, and professionals for future leadership opportunities at the University of California. This integrated MSAP program will include participants from the entire UC system. The spring 2018 program is scheduled for April 23-26, 2018 at the UCLA Conference Center in Lake Arrowhead.

UC Davis is seeking Davis campus and UC Davis Health applicants to fill seven (7) slots in the spring 2018 program. We strongly recommend that department heads discuss the program with supervisors, managers, and professionals who exhibit potential for management development and encourage them to apply.

Applicants must have one or more years of service at UC (past probation, career status) as of the application deadline. Supervisor support is essential to the success of MSAP.

Highest priority will be given to individuals with:

- Demonstrated management career path (through education and/or experience)
- One to five years of experience supervising or managing people or projects
- One to five years in current job
- Title and Pay Plan: “__” Assistant III Supervisor, equivalent, or above
- Career Tracks: Professional Level 3

The program cost of $1,095 (including all program materials and room and board for three days and two nights) will be covered by UC Davis Human Resources. Your department will only fund the transportation or other related travel costs.

Further information and the 2018 online MSAP application form can be found at: http://msap.ucr.edu/

Completed applications, including a supervisor statement of support must be submitted online by 5:00 pm, Tuesday, January 23, 2018.
