1. Our Health Sciences Clinical Professors make a multitude of scholarly and creative contributions every day! Meet Drs. Samuel Clarke & JoAnne Natale from the Departments of: Emergency Medicine and Pediatrics.

Interprofessional Clinical Incident Response Training (ICIRT)

Every clinician dreads the moment when it is clear that things are not going well . . . when a family has become distrustful of the care team or when there was even a frank error in clinical care. But what needs to be done? For the patient? For the family? For the clinical team members who are themselves distressed and uncertain? Samuel Clarke, an assistant professor in the Department of Emergency Medicine, and JoAnne Natale, a professor in the Department of Pediatrics, provide Interprofessional Clinical Incident Response Training (I-CIRT) to support frontline clinicians in recognizing and responding to diverse clinical incidents. Residents in surgery, emergency medicine and pediatrics, as well as nurses and pharmacists, learn how to listen empathetically, assess astutely, and communicate compassionately when things are not going well. With an emphasis on teamwork and transparency, this training is designed to recover the trust of patients and their family members even in the most difficult of circumstances. 2. Office of Research Announces the Roll Out of Cayuse SP for Processing New Sponsored Project Awards Beginning July 1, 2017- The Office of Research will roll out the Cayuse SP for processing new sponsored project awards and will also begin the phased roll out of Cayuse SP for new proposal development and submission later this summer. Once fully implemented, Cayuse SP will simplify the entire sponsored project lifecycle management from proposal creation to award close-out.

Instructions for logging into the system with your Kerberos password and viewing your awards can be found here. For more information about Cayuse SP, including training resources and frequently asked questions, please visit the SPARK website.

3. Upcoming Event: Providing Quality Care to LGBTQ+ Patients: An Introductory Training- The Office for Equity, Diversity and Inclusion will be hosting a two-hour workshop that focuses on providing patient-centered care for lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer and questioning (LGBTQ+) patients and their families. The training will focus on support of the health care team and the essential skills needed to provide culturally competent care and services. 3 separate workshops will be offered throughout the day on Friday, July 28. Register for one of the workshops here.

4. Mentee Tip: Be honest with your mentor and share a true self-assessment of your skills and goals and how they mesh with your professional and personal aspirations.
