2015-2016 Distinguished Lecturer Series

Oct 14, 2015  Lisa A. Croen, Ph.D.
4:30 p.m.  Kaiser Permanente Division of Research
The epidemiology of autism: Investigating perinatal risk factors

Nov 4, 2015  Declan Murphy, M.D., FRCPsych
4:30 p.m.  King's College London
Translating findings ‘from bench to bedside’ rapidly – can it be done?

Dec 9, 2015  Greg Hickok, Ph.D.
4:30 p.m.  University of California, Irvine
The functional anatomy of language: Four things you need to know

Jan 13, 2016  Jonathan Kipnis, Ph.D.
4:30 p.m.  University of Virginia
The brain’s lymphatic system and behavior

Feb 10, 2016  Karl Deisseroth, M.D., Ph.D.
4:30 p.m.  Stanford University
Illuminating the brain in health and disease

Mar 9, 2016  Nim Tottenham, Ph.D.
4:30 p.m.  Columbia University
Development of human amygdala-prefrontal cortex circuitry and the role of the caregiver

Apr 13, 2016  Donald Pfaff, Ph.D.
4:30 p.m.  The Rockefeller University
A 3-hit theory of autism, focusing on prenatal stress and sex differences

May 18, 2016  Ted Abel, Ph.D.
4:30 p.m.  University of Pennsylvania
Male-specific deficits in mouse models of autism

June 8, 2016  Evdokia Anagnostou, M.D.
4:30 p.m.  Bloorview Research Institute
Translational therapeutics in ASD