

Anita Jain, M.D.

Clinical Interests	Dr. Jain has clinical interests in developmental pediatrics, complex chronic conditions, obesity and weight management. She treats each child's condition in the context of his or her home and social environment and understands the importance of parents' involvement in the health of their children. Dr. Jain treats children and adolescents from birth to age 18 and enjoys general pediatrics as well as challenging medical problems. Philosophy of Care: Dr. Jain prefers following children long-term, through all stages of development, and strives to create a "medical home" for her patients. Through regular well-child visits, she provides guidance before families face the stress caused by illness and injury.
