

Paul C. Riggle, M.D.

Philosophy of Care I decided to go into family practice because I enjoy the diversity of this specialty. In my practice, I focus on detail, and I have a strong background in surgery as well as family practice. In my opinion, patient education regarding medical problems, preventive care and recent advances in medicine is very important to individual health. For this reason, I try to educate my patients and always strive to involve them in all decisions concerning their care. I think that UC Davis Medical Group will serve the community well through the high quality of its primary care and excellent consultants.
