

Thomas B. Alan, M.D.

Philosophy of Care I enjoy the broad range of care from young adults to geriatrics. I enjoy teaching my patients about their illnesses and how best to treat them both pharmacologically and preventively. My main focus is preventive health. I like to treat with the most recent indications based on clinical studies.

Clinical Interests Thomas Alan provides a broad range of care, from young adult to geriatric. His focus is on preventive health, such as cholesterol and Pap tests as well as annual prostate exams. Alan conducts outpatient treatment for a variety of illnesses including infections, hypertension, heart disease, allergic rhinitis, asthma, diabetes, stroke and GERD. He also conducts inpatient treatment for illnesses such as pneumonia, diverticulitis and renal failure.
