

Tokihiro Yamamoto, M.S., Ph.D.

Research/Academic Interests	Dr. Yamamoto's scientific interests focus on developing and investigating novel imaging technologies and integrating these innovations into clinical radiotherapy to improve therapeutic gains in cancer radiotherapy. Areas of active research include: (1) the development of lung ventilation/perfusion imaging based on computed tomography (CT) and deformable image registration, and applications in lung cancer radiotherapy to reduce pulmonary toxicity, and (2) the investigation of radiomics, an emerging method that applies advanced mathematical algorithms to extract quantitative features predictive of gene expression or clinical outcomes from imaging data, toward personalized radiotherapy.
Specialty	Cancer , Medical Physics, Radiation Oncology
Department	Radiation Oncology
Division	Radiation Oncology
Center/Program Affiliation	UC Davis Comprehensive Cancer Center
Additional Phone	Physician Referrals: 800-4-UCDAVIS (800-482-3284)
Languages	Japanese
Education	M.S., Osaka University, Suita, Osaka, Japan 2004 Ph.D., Osaka University, Suita, Osaka, Japan 2007 B.S., Osaka University, Suita, Osaka, Japan 2002
Fellowships	Stanford University, Stanford CA 2011
Board Certifications	American Board of Radiology, Therapeutic Radiological Physics, 2014 Japanese Board of Medical Physics (JBMP), 2007
Professional Memberships	American Association of Physicists in Medicine (AAPM) American Society for Radiation Oncology (ASTRO) Japan Society of Medical Physics (JSMP) Japan Society of Pulmonary Functional Imaging Japanese Society for Therapeutic Radiology and Oncology (JASTRO)
Honors and Awards	Science Council Session, the American Association of Physicists in Medicine (AAPM), 2013 Young Scientist Sponsorship, European Respiratory Society (ERS), 2011 Scientific Presentation Award, International Workshop for Pulmonary Functional Imaging, 2011 John S. Laughlin Science Council Research Symposium, American Association of Physicists in
