

John R. Laird, M.D.

Philosophy of Care To provide comprehensive cardiovascular care including preventative approaches, optimal medical care and state of the art, minimally invasive therapies.

Clinical Interests Dr. Laird is an internationally renowned interventional cardiologist who has lectured and performed endovascular procedures around the world. He has also been a leader in the development of Drug Coated Balloon for peripheral artery disease. His practice focuses on interventions for carotid artery disease, abdominal and thoracic aortic aneurysmal disease, renal artery disease and peripheral artery disease. Among his many areas of leadership and innovation are the investigation of new stents for carotid and peripheral vascular applications and the development of laser angioplasty. He uses the Excimer laser as a tool for complex peripheral interventions and in limb salvage situations. Dr. Laird is known for innovation, teaching vascular interventions to other physicians, and his role in organizing and conducting clinical trials of new therapies for vascular disease.

Research/Academic Interests Dr. Laird's research interests include:

- 1-Innovative approaches to the treatment of peripheral artery disease including new stent designs, drug eluting stents, and drug coated balloons.
- 2-Stent grafts for abdominal and thoracic aneurysms.
- 3-Stem cell therapies for advanced peripheral artery disease.
- 4-New stents for carotid artery disease.
